

~~Switched connection system with access to its resources via the Internet~~

The operator console of the switching node has a connection to the Internet for accessing the resources of the switching node. The basis for features which require interaction between the switched connection network (PSTN) and the Internet are provided at low cost.

~~Fig. 1~~